

2017-01-20 GLORY RELEASED IN THE NATION

For I have said in My Word: When the righteous rule, the people rejoice, but when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn. Your nation has gone through a season of mourning, and many have mourned and not realized that this is what has been happening in their spirit. But I say to you this day: You now have a man in your White House who represents a door to this nation through which I will be able to release My glory. For many of you prayed and prayed and prayed, and through your prayers, I was able to move upon the hearts of many. And though I do not change the will of man, I can impart unto man My Presence, in a way that will cause them to see the direction that they should go, and in this case, the direction that they should vote. Your prayers have done this.

I have said in My Word that when the enemy comes in like a flood, My Spirit will raise up a standard. My Spirit does this through your prayers. The time to pray has not come to an end, but the time to pray has now increased. For you see, your prayers are that which My Spirit works through to raise up this standard and begin to turn back the tide of evil that has been sweeping over this nation. And I say unto you: Do not simply pray for your President and your Vice President, but you must pray for your Senate and the House of Representatives and the Supreme Court. For you see, there are many, some of whom are not even born again, but yet, their hearts are tender. And I can impact their hearts, and things will change in this nation. But you must pray for the sum total of your government. Do not stop.

I say to you: Many things that you have seen happen in the past eight years, that you felt were bringing nothing but doom upon this nation, I say: Those things can be turned. For which do you think is greater? The work of Satan through man or the work of My glory through the prayers of those who are on their knees before Me?

Your prayers, the prayers of My Church have made it possible for this day to take place. For think back to the days leading up to your election. The camp of the enemy firmly believed victory was in their hands. Satan did not know the direction that this election would take. And when the results came in, he was furious. For he thought he had won. But I say unto you: Righteousness has won this day. And righteousness shall prevail through My Church. And so I say to you that My glory is going to begin to be released in this nation in a way you have not seen in a long, long time. It will start off as a trickle. But it will increase and become a rushing mighty river in this nation.

Do not debate over how you think it should manifest. For it shall manifest according to My will. And I am going to move in such a way to where, at times, you will think I am not moving, but I am moving. Continue to pray for your Senate, for your House of Representatives, and for the Supreme Court, for I will move mightily in those theaters if you pray. Do not stop. Your prayers are that through which I work to bring about change.

So I say unto you: This is a day of great rejoicing. This is a day of great victory. Do not look to man but look to Me. Do not look to the person in the White House but look to Me, for I am the One who will move upon that person in the White House to bring about great things in your nation.

All is not lost. There is much that will be regained, for confusion has been released into the camp of the enemy and that is why you are seeing the reactions to this election that you are seeing. But I say unto you: Victory is yours, because through My Son, I have made you more than conquerors, and you shall rule and reign in this life by Him.

So remember this day. This is one of the greatest days in the history not only of your nation but of this world. For as My glory is released throughout this nation, it will begin to reach out to other nations in the world. All of this is in preparation for a harvest of souls into My Kingdom in preparation for the return of My Son. I am moving in your nation, says the Lord. Do not stop praying. Intensify your prayers, and you will see things change, says the Lord.
