

STOP LIVING IN THE PAST

Stop living in the past, good or bad. When your mind is occupied with what was, you cannot receive from Me what is and what is to come. Your past is filled with many great accomplishments and many great errors. You cannot afford to continue dwelling on them like someone watching the same television reruns over and over.

The life you are living today is a result of the choices you have made in the past. You need to focus on Me so I can lead you into present-day choices that will alter the path of your future, a future I have already laid out for you in Heaven. You cannot change what has happened, but you can prepare for what I will bring. I am leading you in the paths of righteousness for My Name's sake. Just as I have said in My Word that My mercies are new every morning, so will be the refreshing of My presence each day as you focus on Me.

The more you renew your mind, the more you will know and understand My will for you. So again I say, stop living in the past, a past that had less of Me than you now have. Stay focused on My presence in your present-day. Your past is over, but a greater level of My glory awaits you. Focus on Me and let Me give you a fresh vision of who you are in Me and the joy of the future I have waiting for you.
