

You Are Not Broken (PD220426B - April 26, 2022)
(During the Revival Now! Conference)

For those that have been fighting panic attacks, anxiety –

For many of you that have fought these kinds of things have reasoned within yourself, and the enemy has come and said you're less than. You didn't understand. And sometimes it was biological, sometimes it was a direct assault, but nevertheless because of the accuser of the brethren, you've walked in a weight. Not just the fear of those things, but a weight of less than, a feeling of less than, and not having the same place of sonship or being a daughter in the Kingdom because something was wrong with you, that you were broken in some way. But I'm here to tell as your Father and as the Spirit of Truth, you're not broken. You're mine. You're filled even as you believe with strength on the inward man, says the Spirit of Grace.

Henceforth, do not receive in yourself, even when the symptoms come, do not receive the accusation that these things are coming because something is wrong, innately wrong with you, or that part of your makeup is broken. But I say to you that strength is being measured out to you even now in this service, and in times to come, you'll find a growing strength. For this testimony is come about not just for the one that gave it, but for all those who'll reach out.

No, you're not. No, you're not. (He's speaking to someone through the camera or even in here.) No, you're not. You're not getting dementia. You're not getting Alzheimer's. You're not! That lie, those symptoms of memory and recall that are coming against you even now, stand up in faith against these things. Do not entertain them in your bed. Do not entertain them in your shower. Do not entertain them. But speak against them, speaking My Word, saying these things: "I have the mind of Christ, and I'll have the mind of Christ until I'm old and taken out of this world. I will continually remember everything, both old and both new. Old memory patterns, new memory patterns, in Jesus' name."
