

God is Truly Your Everything (PD220629 – June 29, 2022)

I am your strength. I am your shield. I am your portion. I am your deliverer. I am your life. I am your everything. Too many of My children seek for consolation to come from the world. They seek affirmation to come from the world, from their peers. They seek assurance from the world, but I can give you all of this. I am God. I can give you all of this. You must learn to trust Me and yield to Me. I will not lead you into a place of legalistic religion. What I want with you is relationship in love.

You must trust Me and believe that I do know the beginning from the end, and I do know what is best. This is why I said in My Word that you're not to lean to your own understanding but to trust Me in everything. I will provide for you whatever you need. I do not work according to the world's standards; I work according to My Word's standards. So I say unto you, trust Me. Trust Me that the time you spend with Me is time well spent because it helps you learn to hear Me, how to obey Me, and to know My will. So trust Me. Press into Me and your life will change for the better, says the Lord.
