

Praise Before Manifested Victory (PD230625 – June 25, 2023)

In My Word I have said, I have given you victory through Jesus Christ. I say to you that victory includes everything concerning this fallen world. You have victory over sickness. You have victory over depression. You have victory, even over injury. You have victory over poverty. I have given you My victory through My Son. I want you to consider what happens in the world when victories are won. People rejoice. People cheer. Whether it's on the battlefield, whether it's at a sporting event, whether it's when someone is elected – people cheer when there is victory. But they are cheering after the victory has taken place.

I say to you, rejoice and praise Me before you see the victory manifested. Because if you will do this, you'll begin to have within you the assurance of the victory in manifestation. Yes, it is a good thing to praise Me and rejoice after the victory has manifested. But when you will praise Me and worship Me and rejoice before the manifestation, you're doing so in faith believing My Word that I have given you the victory.

So, I say unto you, no matter what you're facing, praise Me, worship Me, rejoice before Me before the victory is manifested, and know My peace in the midst of every storm and every challenge because you, indeed, are Mine and I have given you the victory, says your Father.
