

Worship Captures Heaven's Attention (PD230716 – July 16, 2023)

It is during these times of worship that My arms are open wide, welcoming all of your praise and all of your worship. When you worship Me this way, heaven pays attention. When you worship Me this way, it blesses My heart. So never stop worshipping Me, My children. Never stop worshipping Me. The more you worship Me, the more My heart becomes your heart. The more of what I see, you will see. The more of what I feel, you will feel.

You are My hands extended, My children. You are the ones who can make a real difference in this world. So, I say unto you, never stop worshipping Me. Never stop worshipping Me, because the more you worship Me, the more you will have My heart, and the more you will see people through My eyes, the more you will love them, more than you have ever before. It is My heart's desire to fill Heaven with My children. It cannot happen without you. It cannot happen without you.

So, never stop worshipping. Never stop praising Me. Allow Me to fill you with all that I am every time that you do that. And look forward to it, My children. Look forward to it because it will be a time of refreshing. It will be a time of healing. It will be a time of restoration for you. So, come to Me, My children. Always worship Me, praise Me.

Let our hearts unite like they've never united before, and be My hands extended so that when people see you, they will see My Son Jesus through you. That's what the world needs. That's what they hunger for, and you are the ones, you are the ones that I want to be able to deliver the bread to the children. Worship Me. Praise Me. Be arm-in-arm with Me in everything you do. And always remember My children, you are here to help Me fill Heaven.
