

Worship and Who I Am to You (PD20241020 – Oct 20, 2024)

You sing many songs about Me, describing Me, who I am, what I've done. But all of these songs that you sing describing Me, please know I don't want them to just be songs. I want them to be your testimony. I want you to know Me according to what you sing. When you say that I am marvelous, I want to be marvelous in your life. When you say that I am powerful, I want to be powerful in your life. When you sing that I am your Redeemer, I want to move in your life to redeem every aspect of your life according to My glory. When you sing about Me being closer than a brother, that's what I want to be to you. I want what you sing to be your life. I want you to know Me as everything that you sing in describing Me. Please, let Me be this to you. Don't just sing it; receive it. Let Me be this to you and I will bring into your life more peace than you have ever known. You will shed far fewer tears when you let Me be to you what you sing.

I am far greater than anything you've ever known, and there is a much deeper experience with Me that awaits you. But I ask you, please open your heart. Open your heart and receive Me and everything that you have sung about Me, and I will bring greater awareness of who I am into your life. There is so much joy that is waiting for you, far more than you've ever known. I will do this for you, but you must focus on Me and receive all of who and what I am to you. Just cry out to Me. Call Me who I am to you. Declare that you receive it into your life, and let me work this work. I want you to know My presence on a continual basis day in and day out. For I am marvelous, and wonderful and powerful and awesome and all of these things and more. It is My desire for you to know this and experience it beyond just a song, but that it is your life. So please, Me do this for you.
