

Worship to Pull Down Strongholds (PD241208c – Dec 6, 2024)

Just as we're singing, I just saw like a house. You know those houses that are made of popsicle sticks and how when you're kid and you just glue them together and you make it a square, but it's not very stable and sturdy really in the end and you just begin to pick it apart? And I just saw as you worship, as we worship Him, He is just pulling down that that stronghold, those things in our lives that do not belong, those things that He wants to remove. He's just breaking those sticks apart. He's just breaking them off. Hallelujah! Thank you, Jesus! Thank you, Lord! We think that we couldn't get fixed. We think that we are broken. Hallelujah! But He is removing those things. He is breaking those sticks. Hallelujah, Jesus! Thank you, Lord. Thank you, Lord. Don't you know that no stronghold is too big for him?
